

A vertical bar chart with the title “When will climate change harm people in the US?” The chart has a header saying, “percentage who said people are being harmed right now.”

The chart has 50 percent of White respondents and 62 percent of People of color respondents.