

This image contains a horizontal bar graph with the headline “Most Hoosiers say that climate change is happening at least to some degree.” The title of the graph is labeled “Percentage who say to what degree climate change is happening (whether caused by human activity or not).”

The first bar is labeled “To a great extent” and ends at 48 percent.

The second bar is labeled “Somewhat” and ends at 32 percent.

The third bar is labeled “Very little” and ends at 10 percent.

The fourth bar is labeled “Not at all” and ends at 4 percent.